COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

The College of Liberal Arts serves the greatest variety of student interests and objectives of any of the schools and colleges. It includes the School of General Studies with its program of concentrated and special studies, and its departments treat every academic concern: art, business, government, chemistry, home economics, medical technology, music, English, foreign and classic languages, sociology, biology, economics, geography, geology, journalism, health education, history, humanities, mathematics, philosophy, physics, psychology, speech, and all pre-professional training.

This year in the College of Liberal Arts found the preponderance of women students over men which might have been expected with the draft taking large numbers of the freshmen and sophomores each year. A full program of classes and activities was maintained, however, and enrollment showed an increase over the university year of 1943-44.

This member of the family of colleges at Wayne was inaugurated in 1923. It has served an ever growing body of students year by year and may be expected to continue its development in the post-war period.

Because of the diversity of interests of liberal arts students a trip through the various classrooms would bring to light many contrasting scenes. Here are a group of students preparing a radio program for WUBG, the broadcasting guild; there is the chemistry lab with its all-pervading odors; then we find the home ec pantry with good things to eat laid out on the table. We may find a group of students sketching for an art class; a language class poring over the intricacies of a foreign tongue; a chorus or instrumental group working on some musical problem; and a humanities discussion of a new book or an old idea. Certainly "liberal arts" is the best title that could have been devised for this most extensive college program on our campus.

THE LAW SCHOOL

The lawyers this year have been having the same troubles that have arisen in other colleges, namely, that their ranks were decimated by the draft and that everyone was working at more than the usual number of jobs and responsibilities. The faculty kept everyone on his toes, however, and a good race was run from the September 13 opening to the June 8 commencement. Contracts, criminal law, equity, domestic relations and all the other divisions of the law were in the passing parade. After only one semester a freshman lawyer was heard to remark that "this is the first time I ever realized all the trouble a man can get into and all the arguments he can have!"

Words and phrases came recurrently: Mr. Jones, brief this case! National Reporter! What is the issue? Afortiori! Come in under equity! Common law! U.S. Reports! Nunc pro tunc! Bar exams Silver key! Meet me in the lounge! Is he here tonight? Contributory negligence! Bibb Broom Case! And so on through the year!

The Law School at Wayne University is nearly two decades old. Not all of this time has it been a part of the colleges of the University and only recently has it been housed on the campus proper. Its history has been marked by the maintenance of continuous high academic standards and by the preparation of some of the outstanding attorneys of Detroit and of the nation.

COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

These have been war years for Wayne's College of Medicine. A large part of the student membership has been made up of army and navy personnel, and the accelerated program has kept everyone working without wasted time or energy. The facilities of the hospitals of the Detroit area have been used in many phases of the training. Military drill has been an added chore for many medics on Saturday afternoons.

Scant heed was given to unfortunate newspaper publicity by students and faculty of the institution. They all had a job to do and no more than time enough to do it. They merit all respect for the way it has been done.

A medic's academic year is not of a kind with that in other parts of the University. He works through three semesters in each calendar year with registration in June, November, and April, and he has three regular sets of examinations, not to mention those that come between. With clinics, laboratories, and hospital work taking large chunks of time, the medical student is subjected to a rigorous course of training. Wayne is proud of its medical students, of its College of Medicine, and of the competent and honored body of physicians who are its alumni.

The College of Medicine was organized in 1885 by consolidation of two earlier training institutions with beginnings in 1868 and 1879. It became a part of Wayne University in 1934. It is located at St. Antoine and Mullett streets at present but is expected in the future to be made a part of the Medical Science Center being planned as a part of the post-war development of Wayne University.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

With a student body much smaller in number than in the past, the College of Pharmacy has shown itself as active as ever. This year a student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association was established, which sponsored programs of special interest to pharmacists. For the third consecutive year a Wayne student won the MacCabe Award, for which all pharmacy schools in Michigan compete. The award is presented by the American Pharmaceutical Association and this year went to Albert Sippel.

With little free time for participation in student activities because of heavy programs, pharmacy students nevertheless were well represented in all-University functions and were active in organizations devoted to their field. Pi Upsilon, pharmacy fraternity, was organized, and Lambda Kappa Sigma, professional sorority scheduled a rushing season.

The College of Pharmacy was established over twenty years ago. Not located near the main building, the college is conveniently close to many of the pharmaceutical manufacturing laboratories of Detroit.

COLLEGE OF OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH

The College of Occupational Health, newly formed this year, is headed by Dean Raymond Hussey.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Wayne's College of Education has been head and shoulders above other educational colleges with its excellent laboratory facilities, and practice teaching in actual Detroit schools. Its forward looking faculty has not been content with its present excellence. It seeks always to improve itself and to this end, the educational libraries this year have been rearranged, and its courses altered to fit the needs of its students. Our congratulations go to them for their fine work in training teachers for the schools of tomorrow. Special notice goes to Pi Lambda Theta, honorary educational sorority, which just this year became national.

The second oldest college operating under authority of Detroit's Board of Education, the College of Education was organized in 1881. Since that time, its reputation has grown so that it is now recognized as one of the best institutes of its kind in the country.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Our hats are off to our College of Engineering for the program it has maintained through this war year. Not only has the draft made great demands on its preponderantly male student body, but there have been the additional claims of industry to the services of young people with technical and scientific interests and abilities. In addition, the program of war training which has been worked out in conjunction with the College has been a great service to the war effort.

A special event of the year was the re-vitalizing of the Engineering Society at Wayne which had become almost inactive. This fine organization is once more carrying on its several functions and holding a number of interesting meetings.

The College of Engineering which had its beginning in 1917 with a two year program has expanded to include work in all engineering fields. It has added new facilities and has been favored by a number of grants from industry and research. Its post-war plans include a group of engineering shops and laboratories which will make it truly representative of the great industrial center of Detroit.

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS AND SOCIAL WORK

The School of Public Affairs and Social Work is an administrative and coordinating unit which provides and emphasizes the graduate courses in the social sciences. Detroit and its environs present a laboratory in the social sciences available to few educational institutions. The Schools acknowledges its obligation to apply its resources to the problems of economics, government, and social work of the area. The Volker Foundation, established in 1944, provides for a scholarship group for the study of government.

COLLEGE OF NURSING

The College of Nursing was established this year under Acting Dean Katherine Faville. It had formerly been a department of the College of Liberal Arts.

SECRETARIAL SCIENCE CURRICULUM

School of General Studies

Students in the Secretarial Science Curriculum of Wayne University take a large proportion of their classes at the High School of Commerce building where typewriters and other office machines equipment are available. The High School of Commerce is located near the downtown office buildings, where many students are employed on a part-time basis. The majority of students carry one or more subjects at the main University Center. Here they belong to varied organizations and participate in the extra-curricular and social activities planned for all students of the University.

Since one year of college training in secretarial science is adequate for many desirable office positions now available, the majority of students are entering employment after a one-year intensive course. Many of those qualified hope to return after the war to earn the Two-Year Secretarial Science Certificate of the School of General Studies or to complete work in the Department of Business Administration in the College of Liberal Arts. Some plan to enter the College of Education, where they will prepare to teach business subjects.

DEPARTMENT OF MORTUARY SCIENCE

School of General Studies

The present trend of mortuary education, as exemplified at Wayne University Department of Mortuary Science, is characterized by the addition of new subjects to the curriculum and a rapid expansion of scope and educational prerequisites.

The developing interest of institutions of college and university rank in this field of education has been based on the definite but gradual transition of the mortuary pursuit from the status of a trade and business to that of a balanced business and professional relationship. In this respect, Wayne University will undoubtedly be considered a pioneer.

The transition from trade to professional status, the expansion of the field of mortuary education, and its incorporation into the field of university and college education, promises to develop valuable assets in the interest of the mortician. These factors all tend to facilitate the change of the mortician to rights and benefits of members of a profession. The increased educational prerequisites make available to him a general cultural and informational background which is essential for the truly professional individual. The development in teaching of the basic sciences, in business management, and in practical mortuary administration has made and will make the mortician much more efficient in the discharge of his duties.

RETAIL COOPERATIVE ONE-YEAR PLAN

School of General Studies

Under the one-year cooperative retailing plan, the students attend classes for 10 hours each week and work in a retail establishment for a minimum of 20 hours each week.

The 10 hour class week is divided into five days, two class periods each day. Subjects covered during the year are: Textiles, Merchandise Information, Color, Line and Design, Store Organization and Management, Job Problems, Buying, Fashion Merchandising, Mathematics of Merchandising. Classes are conducted in the form of lectures, with laboratory periods in Textiles as needed, and field trips to obtain specific information whenever possible.

The minimum requirement of 20 hours work each week is quite frequently stretched to 30 or 40 hours, according to the ability of the student to work and carry on her studies satisfactorily. With stores opening at noon on Mondays, one full selling day in addition to Saturday is added to the work week, thus giving the stores additional trained personnel for these busy times.

The course is characterized by the unique relationship between the University and the merchants, who have shown keen interest in working with the University in developing good store material.

The majority of the students are placed in selling positions in the stores, but the present class includes students in the following departments other than selling: comparison shopping office, unit control, personal shopping, credit department.

A C T I V I T I E S

The whole-hearted participation in Wayne activities indicates pride in today and confidence in tomorrow.

MackENZIE UNION

Mackenzie Union, a scene of popular all-University functions, is the center of men's activities. One of the chief assets is Gordon Klopff, who has been Union Supervisor since 1942.

The Board of Governors with Mr. Klopff plans and coordinates Union functions. With the Activities Council, which is made up of the chairmen of the widely varied interest groups, the Board of Governors forms the nucleus of men's activities.

ACTIVITIES COUNCIL:

CAMPUS HOUSE

Campus House, new home of the Association of Women Students, is a favorite meeting place for organized and informal groups. Only recently converted into a student center, the building was formally opened March 21 when the Campus House Policy Board and AWS held open house for campus leaders and faculty.

Almost as new as Campus House is its manager, pert Helen Horn, who made her initial appearance during the 1944 summer session. Miss Horn works with the AWS Executive Board and Activities Board in the planning and direction of Women's activities.

A. W. S. EXECUTIVE BOARD:

Gloria Stommel, Pres., Helen Freed, Mary Ellen Darling, Rec. Sec., Ellen Jean Clock, June Miller, Bernadine McClellan, Bobbie Edwards, Ruth Edstrom, Vice-Pres., Pat Williams, Shirley Faulkner, Rita Green.

The gala "All Gal Nites" are favorites among the AWS social offerings. Featuring an informal evening of bridge or pinochle, games, singing, and entertainment, they are organized by the Party Plotters and Fun and Frolic committees.

Equally popular are the style shows and charm clinics sponsored by the Best Foot Forward committee. The hit of the year was the Mid-winter Magic fashion show, co-sponsored by AWS and the Board of Governors.

Fact and Fiction and Melody Matinee feature programs for book and music lovers, while AWS Mailbox and War Efforts committees perform valuable patriotic services. The furnishing and decoration of Campus House is the function of the House committee members, who wield a paint brush and hammer as readily as a needle and thread.

U N I O N

The bond auction and its "Wanna Buy a Duck" publicity campaign was the outstanding event in the Mackenzie Union calendar. Sponsored by the Board of Governors, the auction exceeded its goal by over $34,000 to raise a total of $50,225 in war bonds. The money bought six amphibious trucks and three jeeps in the name of the University.

Strictly for fun and a huge success was the Mackenzie Union Eighth Annual Dance held at the Women's Federation last fall. The first big social function of the year, the dance featured the music of Buddy Aldrich and his orchestra.

Book chats, concert hours, jam sessions, and dance lessons are activities listed for weekly participation. Also very much in the spotlight are weekly matinee dances which are co-sponsored by AWS and Mackenzie Union.

MUSIC

HATH

Despite the great handicap the war brought on it, the Wayne University Band continued to function as one of the University's outstanding organizations. With 95% of its former members in the Armed Forces, the overwhelming majority of the members were women. In keeping with the feminine trend, Hannah Kuehl broke precedent by becoming the first woman president in its history. Assisting her were vice president Dacho Dachoff, secretary Edna Rush, and treasurer Betty Frounfelter.

Under the direction of Graham T. Overgard and Roy M. Miller the Band performed for citywide and university functions. The Annual Spring Concert marked the climax of the season. Featuring Jean McDay, flute, and Gene Fenby, piano, as soloists, the concert was given in conjunction with the High School Clinic Band under the auspices of the University Alumni Association.

Combining its talents into one gigantic musical production, the instrumental and vocal groups of the music department presented Wayne's fifteenth annual performance of Handel's beloved Messiah in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple last December. One of Wayne's greatest traditions, the Messiah had been so well received in the past that a double performance was given for the first time.

Starting out in 1929 with 110 voices accompanied by a piano, the production has evolved into a chorus of more than 600 voices, including the Alumni Chorus, the University Chorus, and the A Capella Choir, accompanied by the University Orchestra.

The A Capella Choir was under the direction of Harold A. Tallman, associate professor of music. Featured soloists during the year were Elizabeth Atkinson, Virginia Bush, Ruth Nusbbaum, Carol Peterson, Bernard Smith, and Delbert Russell.

James A. Gibb, associate professor of music, conducted the University Orchestra, which was comprised of fifty members.

STUDENT STAGE

Student Stage members in "The Indian Cap-

Under the spirited leadership of the Student Stage Council and Dr. Richard Dunham, director of the University Theatre, the Student Stage completed a very productive season.

With "The Indian Captive" as their initial performance, the players performed for children of the various schools throughout the city. The first major production was presented at the Women's Federation in the form of four skits. Saroyan's "The Hungerers" and Obeler's "Dark World" were directed by Don Blakely, while Irene Sabec and Charlotte Goodremont directed Gerstenberg's "Potboilers" and Wilder's "The Happy Journey," respectively.

Noel Coward's comedy "Hay Fever" and two one-act plays were the final presentation of the year.

Members of the Student Stage Council were: Don Blakely, president; Charlotte Goodremont, vice president; Ida Canarsa, secretary; Mary Dell Roberts; and Jo Wadney.

Apprentices included: Eileen Sabec, Nellie Passmore, Morton Zieve, Shirley Heikkinen, Rosemary Emmer, Mary Roberts, Forest Shaw, Wilson Taylor, Katherine Fretz, Roma Turner, Maryanna Pearse, and Arthur Munch.

RADIO GUILD

"Memo to America," weekly dramatic presentation, was broadcast by Radio Guild members under the direction of Selwyn Toubert and Seymour Tuchow. "The Playhouse" and a series of music programs were other weekly productions.

Under the leadership of Charles Livingston, Supervisor of the Guild Council, and Eugene Holowchak, Coordinator, the Guild broadcasts were produced by Seymour Tuchow, assisted by Eileen Denny and Norma Weston. Sallye Pickens, Executive Secretary, and Morton Zieve headed publicity; Eileen Denny and Selwyn Toubert, acting; and Wanda Lennox, apprentices. Sound effects men were Jim McMann and Morton Zieve. The writing and script division was headed by Bella Green and Lillian Stawowaczyk, engineering by Roy Kuipers and Jim McMann, and music by Shirley Reynolds and Jane Wolfley.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the leadership of Bill Gail, the Student Council set out to make this year a year of reform. One of its first jobs was the elimination of smoking on the stairway near the Nook. It also formed several committees to investigate and discuss the new student center, racial discrimination at Wayne, frosh hazing, representation on the Student-Faculty committees, and athletics.

On the social side, the Council sponsored an informal dance after the Wayne-State basketball game, held an athletic banquet in honor of the basketball team, and backed the College Inn venture.

Climaxing its activities, the Council organized and conducted the 3rd Annual Leadership Training Conference for students active in student government.

WHO'S WHO

Selected on the basis of leadership, eleven Wayne seniors appeared in the 1945 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. "Who's Who" has been published annually for twelve years and represents more than 500 colleges and universities.

Liberal Arts seniors honored were Marjorie Chavey, vice president of the Student Council; Jean Ednie, president of the Senior Board; William Gail, president of the Student Council; Carolyn Hock, president of Gold Key Honor Society; Barbara Snover, managing editor of the Collegian; Gloria Stommel, president of AWS; Sam Petok, editor of the Collegian; and Leonard Zubroff, member of the Union Board of Governors.

Seniors in the College of Education elected were Ruth Edstrom, editor of the Griffin, and Shirley Richie, chairman of the War Efforts committee.

John Olenik, chairman of the Mackenzie Union Board of Governors, was the representative from the Law School.

Wayne's sixth annual Wintermart converted the rooms and halls of the main building into a pandemonium of gaiety and excitement. The one school activity in which members of all organizations work in cooperation for the purpose of earning funds for the student center, Wintermart combined the efforts of over forty organizations.

Elections

Under the supervision of the government department, the Student Council, and AWS, Wayne students were given an opportunity to express their presidential preferences in a mock election last fall.

Political enthusiasts rallied around party banners and slogans to organize and conduct pep meetings, cheering, and mass demonstrations.

Albert Sippel assumed leadership of the Republican activities with the oratorical assistance of Dr. Rupert Cortwright and Gilbert Rau, while Socialist activities were directed by Mariruth O'Brien and Mel Ravitz. Jimmy Lipton, Dr. E. W. McFarland, and Dr. O. Ross were the prominent leaders of the Democratic campaign.

Roosevelt won an easy victory with a total of 1,179 votes out of the 1,784 cast. Dewey was second with 512, while Thomas gained fifty-five. Gerald L. K. Smith of the America First Committee and Claude Watson, Prohibition aspirant, drew four and three, respectively.

With the war bringing about shortages of all kinds, Wayne found it necessary to limit its social season to three big dances.

The fall term was highlighted by the Soph's annual prom at the Masonic Temple with Larry Paige and his Pages of Melody. Crowned Miss Wayne U for the event was comely Carolyn Hock who, surrounded by her court, reigned from a velvet throne. The court attendants included Dottye Comstock, Jean Hayden, Eunice Kilpela, and Kay McKenzie.

In charge of arrangements for the prom was Glendora Neff, who chose Bobbie Edwards, Marian Craig, Dolores Stevens, Pat Williams, Verial Vaughn, and Don Wilson to assist her.

Mid-winter brought the J-Hop, traditionally Wayne's most popular dance. Semi-formal and featuring the music of Ray Gorrell, the J-Hop was climaxed by the introduction of pretty Eunice Kilpela as Miss J-Hop. Members of her court were Margaret Mouhot, Jean Stevens, June Miller, and Eleanor Moore.

Dottye Comstock acted as chairman of the J-Hop committee. Responsible to her were subcommittee chairmen Marian Ryberg, Shirley Martinez, Betty Reid, Audrey Howard, and Ruth Rasinen.

Students elected Ned Williams, freshman, as their swoon boy at the annual Fresh Flurry held March 24 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Masonic Temple. Other contenders for the coveted title were frosh Bill Brown, Don Cox, Wood Geist, and Bob Walker.

Dancers swayed to the music of Roston Clark and his Columbians. Frosh who helped to make the Flurry a success were Jane Blair, Joyce Caruthers, Kay Collinson, Shirley Heckkenen, Jewell Herrington, Jean McKinstry, Mary Merz, Kitty O'Neill, and Bernice Pergamend.

With physical fitness classes compulsory for all University women, increased interest and participation in women's sports were evidenced. Among the wide variety of classes offered were several suited to every taste. Students welcomed constructive training in sports which had long been hobbies.

All extra-curricular sports were under the direction of the Women's Athletic Association. Under the leadership of president Jean Simon, WAA sponsored a series of hotly-contested inter-sorority basketball games, in which one team of non-affiliated women took part. Calling themselves the Purple Flashes, this group carried off the championship.

Earlier in the year WAA scheduled a Frosh Mixer, at which everyone was welcome and there was more than enough food and fun for all.

Highlight of the year was the annual WAA Christmas program. All dance classes were represented in the widely varied program, which ranged from humorous skits to the serious interpretations of the Junior and Senior Dance Groups. The A Capella Choir provided the musical background for the presentation of a group of Negro spirituals.

The dance groups made frequent request performances for various civic groups during the year, and were represented at the Junior Variety Show.

A complete series of recreational activities for leisure hours was provided for in the WAA schedule of Splash Hours, Bowling League games, and ping-pong and badminton for all who wished a pleasant diversion.

Because of difficulties which arose over obtaining a schedule, the 1944 football season was limited to two games, one each with Otterbein College and Michigan State.

Their first game, with Otterbein, the Tartars won easily 27-12, while they dropped the State game 32-0.

At the start of the fall term the athletic department had prepared a five game schedule, one each with Otterbein, Michigan State, and Muskingum; and two with Michigan Normal. Muskingum canceled their game a week before it was to take place, while Normal backed out because of an insufficient number of players.

BALL

The Otterbein game was a surprise. The coach had predicted victory, but not by so large a margin. Except for the first five minutes of the third quarter, when the Tartar men let up their guard long enough for the Cardinal's to score twice, the game was Wayne's all the way.

Particularly outstanding in the Otterbein game was the playing of halfback Ralph Chapman who scored three touchdowns and helped pave the way for a fourth.

State was a different matter. The Spartans did almost as they pleased, completing a total of 12 passes out of a possible 28 and scoring touchdowns in the first, second, third quarters and two in the fourth period.

Only redeeming features of the game were the four times that the Wayne team held the Statemen within Wayne's ten-yard line. Outstanding then was the playing of lineman Harold Vogler.

After a year's absence Wayne's return to basketball competition was a most successful one. In all, the Tartar quintet of 1944-45 won a total of eleven games while dropping five.

Starting with a group of returned war veterans, 4-F's, and 17 year olds, none of whom had played ball together, Coach Newman Ertell attempted and succeeded in molding a team that measured up to intercollegiate standards.

The start of the season was anything but hopeful. Although the Wayne team defeated the 728th Military Police Battalion 37-29, they didn't look as good as some high school teams.

But with the next game the squad began to take shape. Against a weak Michigan State Normal five they amassed 58 points to the Huron's 26. Later in the season Wayne defeated this same team 74-48.

The first Wayne loss came when the Toledo Rockets defeated Ertell's men 45-39. Albion, Cincinnati, and Normal then all fell under the strong attack of the Tartars.

BALL

The two games that followed were heart-breakers with Wayne dropping two to their perennial rivals, Michigan State and U. of D. Shortly afterwards the Tartar roster was augmented by the entrance into school of Dick Hall, Larry Gaffka, and Don Davy. The Tartars then left for their Canadian trip where they defeated both the University of Toronto and Western Ontario.

Returning to Detroit Wayne took another beating from the Michigan State Spartans with the identical score of the first encounter, 47-38. It was during this game that "Ron" Teasly, all-city star from Northwestern, saw his first action. Even though Wayne lost the game Teasly made a hit with the fans with his sensational jumping, shooting, and backboard play.

Albion was another easy win but soon afterwards Dick Hall, who had amassed 75 points in only four games, was inducted into the Armed Forces.

Cincinnati, whipped earlier in the season by the Tartars, proved that road trips weren't too lucky for the Green and Gold by handing Wayne its worst drubbing of the season, 57-40. Four Wayne losses were in games away from home.

The end looked dismal for the Tartars with only two games remaining and Ertell's opponents favored in both. But with an unexpected rejuvenation, the Tartars come back to whip both Toledo and U. of D. to tie with Calvin College for the best win-lose average in the state.

GOLF

For the first time since 1941 Wayne was represented by a golf team. Dropped in 1941 because of manpower, golf was officially reinstated by the Athletic Advisory Board in the spring of 1944.

Not one member of former Wayne golf teams was still in school so it was necessary for Coach Lawrence Russell to build his team from scratch. To add to his difficulties Russell had a great deal of trouble obtaining a schedule, for Wayne had been out of contact with other schools who had golf teams for four years. Consequently it was a difficult matter to obtain matches.

Those schools that Russell was able to contact and to get matches with were Notre Dame, Romulus Air Base, and Michigan State. In addition Russell tried to get matches with the University of Detroit and Toledo University.

TENNIS

The only Wayne team that resembled pre-war squads this year was tennis. Although there had been no tennis teams since 1942 Coach Norman Wann found himself with two especially outstanding men and one member of the freshman squad of 1942, which had been disbanded.

At first Coach Wann had little hope of more than five matches for his team but before the season was begun he had 11. Heading the list of Universities was U. of M. and Notre Dame. Also on the list were U. of D., Michigan State, Albion, and Romulus Army Air Base.

Number one man of the 1945 team was Robert Ryland, former Negro national champion; number two was Delbert Russell. The third position was held by the only returning veteran, Phil Schreiber, and the fourth and fifth positions rotated between Art Plotkin and Robert Lewandowski. Number six was a toss-up between the remaining candidates for the team.

TRACK

Starting from scratch Coach David L. Holmes molded this year's track team into one that, not up to pre-war standards, was still a source of pride.

With two former letter men, Bert Pryor and Jim Williams, in school Holmes was forced to build the major part of the team around men who had never run before.

Had his squad been unaffected by the draft and injuries it quite likely would have proven the equal of some of his pre-war teams. After the 52-44 win over the University of Chicago Adam Houghton, all-city runner from Miller high, was drafted. Before the next meet, which the Tartar thinclads dropped to Michigan State 66-37, hurdler and high jumper Harold Vogler left for the Navy. The same week another hurdler, John Pavey, left for the Air Corps. After the CCC meet at Michigan State sprinter Sam Ellis got his call.

Top man in both performance and points in the Wayne meets this year was speedy Lorenzo Wright. Wright paced the win over Chicago taking three firsts there and four at Michigan state although Wayne lost the state meet. Wright also competed in the National AAU meet at Madison Square Garden in the running broad jump and placed sixth. In the CCC meet he garnered all of Wayne's points by taking a fourth in the dash and a fifth in the low hurdles.

Other men on the team who were especially good runners were James Karolionak, Jock Ison, Walter McConnor, Terry Marsh and Captain Bert Pryor.

In the outdoor season Holmes arranged meets with Chicago, Albion, and a tentative one with Central Michigan. In addition to these meets Holmes entered a mile relay team in the Penn Relays and his entire team in the state meet which was revived after a year's absence.

ON YOUR MARK

CROSS COUNTRY

Although the cross-country team was not included in the athletic budget arranged last spring a team was formed last fall when Coach Holmes found enough men were interested.

In all, the Wayne harriers ran four dual meets, two each with Oberlin, and State. In addition Holmes entered his men in the NCAA meet at Michigan State where they placed sixth behind Drake, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Oberlin, and Ohio State.

Those members of the team who received major awards were Captain Bert Pryor, Vic Cervenak, Bert Richardson, Harry Ramsey, Don Moore and David Schurgin.

BASEBALL

Baseball was one of the few Wayne sports that managed to keep alive throughout the year. Although the outlook at times hasn't been bright, the team has managed to keep going.

In 1944 Wayne's team numbered but 13 men. As far as fielding and hitting was concerned the team was fairly strong but it was woefully weak in pitching during the season. In all, five men tried their hands at pitching during the season. Perhaps it was largely because of this fact that the Wayne team won but two games, both against the Detroit Coast Guard.

In 1945 practically the entire team returned to take up where they left off in '44. Teddy Allen, Jack Kutnick, Clarence Debronski, Sid Gold, Julius Molis, Bill Kachaturoff, Myron Urdea, and Ralph Chapman were all returning lettermen.

In addition Coach Leo Maas has picked up some pretty good players: "Ron" Teasly, former first baseman for the Northwestern high school city baseball champs; Dan Verderbar, third baseman from Wilbur Wright; and others were among these. Maas however was still in search of a good pitcher or two to bring his team up to full strength.

COACH LEO MAAS

This year baseball was favored by an early spring that enabled them to begin outdoor practice earlier than usual. Consequently the Wayne team this year was in better condition to face opponents.

Those teams which Wayne was scheduled to face this spring included U. of M., Michigan Normal, Michigan State, U. of D., Central Michigan, Grosse Isle, and Romulus Army Air Base.

FENCING

Although not formally recognized by the University, fencing is rapidly taking on pre-war proportions here at Wayne.

For the first time in years Bela de Tuscan of the Salle de Tuscan conducted men's fencing classes for Wayne students.

A member of de Tuscan's classes, Jerry Taines, was permitted by the Athletic Advisory Board to represent Wayne in the mid-western fencing championships at Columbus, Ohio on April 7. Taines was good enough to place third in the saber and epee events while he failed to qualify in the saber event because of tough competition.

De Tuscan has hopes of raising by next fall a team to compete with other schools in fencing if the Athletic Board will permit.

FACULTY WOMEN'S CLUB

The Faculty Women's Club of Wayne University extends to the Class of 1945 best wishes and congratulations. In these war years you have laid foundations and secured training which will be useful to you in the years of world reconstruction which lie ahead.

As citizens and business and professional leaders, you will have obligations to your community. These will arise, in part, from the fact that you have studied in and been graduated from a tax-supported institution. Furthermore, you have lived and studied in a city which has reflected many of the social, economic, and political currents of the contemporary scene.

Your university experience will have qualities of realistic approach which will enable you to grasp and analyze many of the problems inherent in the years ahead. With you, on this interesting, challenging journey go our best wishes for your continued, successful achievement.

PHI DELTA KAPPA

Alpha Omega Chapter

Alpha Omega, Wayne campus chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national professional and honorary education fraternity, gives greetings to all students of Wayne University and congratulations to the graduates of 1945.

Our organization, which stands for research, service, and leadership in education, is especially glad to welcome to the profession all those graduates who are entering the field of teaching. We urge you to maintain the high standards and worthwhile ideals with which you have been endowed by the University. You are entering a profession that bears the approval and respect of the public at large. You will be looked up to as a person of consequence in the community in which you serve. This carries with it a responsibility to merit the trust reposed in you and to abide steadfastly by principles of right and truth.

It is generally felt that the period just ahead is one of the crucial times in the growth of civilization. It is hoped that the theme of this era will be the renaissance of a culture based on peace and progress. The preparation of individuals and nations to take a proper part in the work that must be done is largely the task of education. Phi Delta Kappa is confident that you who are bringing new energy and new vision to our profession will do all in your power to meet successfully this challenge of the future.

WAYNE UNIVERSITY RED CROSS UNIT

Helen Freed

Doris Schneider

Mildred Siegel

The Wayne University Red Cross Unit was granted its charter on February 8, 1945. Its main purpose is to coordinate the work of the twelve groups at the University now engaged in Red Cross work and war assistance activities. There are first aid and motor mechanics classes given through the year. A staff assistance course familiarizes college students with all phases of Red Cross programs.

The Unit's executive committee for 1944-45 consists of Helen Freed, President; Grace Bernhard and Doris Schneider, co-vice-chairmen; and Mildred Siegel, secretary-treasurer. Miss M. Marjorie Smith served as adviser. Mrs. George Thompson, head of college units in the Detroit area, conducted the staff assistance course. A nurse's aide training course for the summer was also arranged this year. Coordination of the whole program was effected through an operating committee made up of representatives of the twelve active groups on the campus. They kept a varied and valuable program of activities going throughout the year.

Wayne is proud of its Red Cross Unit and the work that it has accomplished. This is one of the outstanding examples of the way in which our University has geared itself to the demands of the war. Carry on, Red Cross!

MEDICAL SCHOOL

By CHARLES BROCIUS

After plowing through enough red tape to make the Russian Stock Market look sick; after kissing goodbye to $500 for tuition, books, and equipment—and with the resounding “Good Timber” still ringing in our ears, we had at last hurdled the perilous barriers of application, registration, and admission to the hallowed halls of Wayne University College of Medicine.

“You who have been chosen to study Medicine, represent a group of highly selected individuals,” quoted the Dean in his opening Freshman Day’s address.

“Remember!! For every seat you occupy, four others fought and failed!”

Then the Senior Class president arose and remarked how happy he was to be a senior, and how sorry he was for the floundering freshmen. He reassuringly said:

“But when you’re feeling blue
And think you’re never going to get thru
Just climb three flights of stairs, and gaze
At the sad sacks that preceded you.
You’ll be amazed!!!”

This R was guaranteed to give us a “lift.”

Then we toured the classrooms and labs, and were finally led through the gray halls of that inspiring institution, Receiving Hospital, where the patients thrive on adverse conditions and recover in spite of them.

So it was that 81 young hopefuls filled with determination, fear and humility were launched into the medical maelstrom.

Yes, Physiology was plum—Osteology—nothing humorous about that—Chemistry—a Waterloo for more than one. Histology—Oh those first practicals! Embryology—Rats!!! But Gross Anatomy—How unforgettable the atmosphere—that aromatic fragrance!

But it was sweat, toil and midnight oil (caffeine) and Doc Cutuly’s humor that pulled us through.

And Maury Willis’ morning moan, “Lord! Lord! Ah, just cain’t get enough sleep!”

Then there was rushing to add to the Frosh confusion.

What’ll it be? Nu Sig? Phi Rho? Phi Bete? Pledge parties! Remember??? And informal initiations—yeah, they certainly were! But finally we were full fledged members. Cleaning the rooms, carrying out ashes and showing respect to upper classmen were wished on the new pledges.

After a grueling week of finals and ten days to catch up on lost sleep, we were sophomores—that is, all except 19 of us!

Pharmacology “yes, nature is kind.” Bateriaology—huumph “As far as that’s concerned”—well all survived. But Path.—Soph’s nemesis! (overheard on a Path. practical) “Where did they dig up those slides?”

And which of us didn’t develop T.B. or C.A. or something??—More finals and Oh Yes! Those Basic Sciences. (Well, better luck next time).

Then A.S.T.P.! To Fort Custer for ten days where it was K.P. and “to the rear march” and SNAFU. And those embryo V-12 Brass hats?/ #”&%@c. Yeah, but didn’t they look cute with their “brush cuts”—Ha! Revenge!!

Now we are Juniors. Our humility turns to arrogant pride as the Frosh view us in awe and admiration.

After a brief introduction to clinical work, there sprouts a fresh crop of pseudo-specialists—Obstetricians and Diagnosticians—Abdominal surgeons and Neurosurgeons—Orthopedists and Physiatherapists—ophthalmologists and otolaryngologists—Radiologists and other Knowallogists. But most interesting of all—Psychiatrists—and a fantastic fad sweeps the campus! Hypnotism!! “If you have hidden unconscious repressions, let me tell you what they are,” etc.

Well, at long last, we reached the coveted position of Seniors. It was not that we drew first blood. Started I. V’s at 2:30 A.M.

The first Spinal Tap. The first “Scrub.” The first sutures placed and the first knots tied. Dr. O. D.’s “gentle” reminder—you’re no longer Sterile Doctor.” And the quick reply: “hope I never am.”

The first time we fed a baby—and the first baby we delivered—the cutest homely baby ever seen. Almost like it was your own! (But what am I saying?)

Soon these firsts became seconds, thirds, and routine—all in a day’s work.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL

BY IRV MOSER

Out of the long line of registering students appeared 235 who desired to bend their efforts toward the fields of engineering. They expended energy for two semesters. The 64 dollar question is, "What did they accomplish?"

First of all the "slip stick wielders" added a few credits toward their respective degrees—but that's incidental. Engineers always do that. But this year the newly re-formed (not reformed) WUES (Wayne University Engineering Society) got into full swing with interesting meetings and a delightful party with the girls of Zeta Chi. In an engineering bowling league students pitted their efforts against the surprisingly accurate aims of the engineering faculty. The league wound up affairs with a banquet and the awarding of prizes to winning teams and individuals.

The Wayne Engineer flew a proud banner this year. Under the leadership of a new editor, a brand new staff produced a series of revolutionary magazines in the form of postwar issues. They created quite a spectacle by having their first postwar issue delivered by helicopter. Circulation of the postwar issues were the highest since the entry of our country into the war.

Yes, our Engineering College of 1945 is a far cry from its infant stages of 1917. Back in the dark ages of 1917, only two years of engineering were offered, most of the subjects taught under the heading of Chemical engineering. In August of 1933, the Department of Engineering had five branches and was changed to the College of Engineering under the leadership of Dean Carr. Expansion of an engineering college in an industrial city such as Detroit was inevitable, and the college grew in courses, equipment, faculty, and degrees. B.S. degrees are offered in aero, civil, chemical, electrical, mechanical, industrial, and metallurgical engineering.

In 1941, a new building housed part of the aero and mechanical labs, and an extensive program is planned for the postwar period.

True, it's been a busy year for the engineers; they've worked hard, but results were fruitful. They've learned a lot and had a lot of fun.

Slosson Interprets the News

Professor Slosson, as shown by recent surveys is one of the most widely listened to radio commentators in Michigan. He has built up this tremendous popularity through his clear and lucid analysis of immediate war news, through his incisive interpretation of international events, and through his keen observation of current and future trends—and all their resultant aspects. Broadcast every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

The Future with Detroit

In 1875 Grandfather Fred Sanders looked over Detroit as a possible location for his new venture in the confectionery business. In those days Detroit boasted a population of 100,000 people and an area of about fifteen square miles. Grandpa Sanders decided that the city presented possibilities, and that Sanders could look forward to a future with Detroit.

And so on the 17th of June, 1875, Grandpa Sanders opened his first small store on Woodward at State Street.

This year—1945—marks the seventieth anniversary of the Sanders organization—seventy years of development from one small soda fountain to a group of twenty-one modern stores serving the whole metropolitan area.

The steady growth of this organization has been necessarily interrupted by the war years, but Sanders have plans for the future—and Sanders are again looking forward to the future with Detroit!
